Why did Yosef not send a message home?

"(8) And Yosef recognised his brothers but they did not recognise him. (9) And Yosef remembered the dreams which he had dreamt about them. And he said to them, 'you are spies', you have come to survey the vulnerability of the land." (Bereishit 42:8-9)

How could only one party recognise the other? Rashi (1040-1105) explains at verse 8 that the brothers did not recognise Yosef because he now had a beard (see Talmud Ketubot 27b). Yosef however did recognise them.

The verb vayizkor, and he remembered, in verse 8, seems to have a feeling of history or destiny about it. Rashi notes that this phrase means that Yosef understood that his current episode with his brothers, when they bowed to him, actually showed that his dreams were being fulfilled. His remembering was a kind of realisation about a process.

Ramban (1190-1274), another prominent medieval commentator, demurs. This is not the realisation of the dreams. One important person is missing – Binyamin, the youngest of the brothers. Binyamin must also be present to complete the 11 brothers bowing down. Therefore Yosef realises that he must engineer Binyamin's journey to Egypt. Yosef, understanding that the dreams were a portent of a Divine plan, knew that he had to work according to the plan.

He therefore could not reveal his identity and bring his father Jacob to Egypt before the plan had taken its course. Yosef also realised that his dreams and the dreams of Pharaoh which he interpreted had to be fulfilled in Egypt.

If this was not the case, then Yosef would have been guilty of causing his father great, prolonged and unnecessary pain, over both the loss of Yosef and the incarceration of Shimon. Even if he had wanted to make his brothers sweat a little, he could not have acted inappropriately towards his father.

For all of these reasons, Yosef reckoned that he had to let the plan unfold thus explaining why he did not write home. This passive approach may appear surprising, especially when Yosef becomes more activist as matters develop. However, according to the Ramban's view, Yosef felt it was the correct way to proceed at that time.

Shabbat Shalom and Chanukah Sameach!

The Chanukah Candle Conundrum

Jewish Law makes a bold instruction concerning two mitzvot. These mitzvot are so important that the poorest of the poor, even one dependent on charity handouts for food, needs to sell the shirt off his or her back to be able to fulfil the mitzva. (see Shulchan Aruch OC 671:1, Rema OC 656:1)

One might conjecture that such a demand might be placed on the chance to study Torah or to eat a crumb of matza, but in fact the instruction pertains to two rabbinic enactments; to have four cups of wine at Seder and to be able to light a Chanukah candle.

What, then, would be the position of someone who reaches the Friday night of Chanukah and has but one candle. Should this be used lehadlik ner shel Chanukah, or lehadlik ner shel Shabbat? Nowhere are we required to impoverish ourselves for Shabbat candles.

While Shabbat and Yom Tov candles can “overlap”, this cannot be extended to our scenario. We know that we are not allowed to benefit from the lights on our Chanukia “ayn lanu reshut lehishtamesh bahem” we say in Hanerot Halalu. We are only allowed to look upon them as a promulgation of the miracle. We cannot read by them. By contrast, the Shabbat candles are there to give light to our homes. Indeed, where once upon a time it would be dark after nightfall and only the affluent might have oil or candles for illumination, on a Friday night, in Jewish homes, a family would dine together by candlelight and share in warm company.

The ability to see by Shabbat candlelight (and not stumble on slippers and toys on the floor) has the Shabbat candles designated as a source of Shalom Bayit.

On this footing, Rambam rules that if one is forced to choose between lighting the Chanukiah or a candle for Shabbat, then Shabbat and Shalom Bayit prevail.

Fortunately, we do not encounter that choice too often.

On erev Shabbat during Chanukah, we must light the Chanuka candles before sunset and before the Shabbat candles (though preferably after mincha). The Chanukah candles must burn for at least half an hour after nightfall. Shabbat comes in at 3:39pm this week and nightfall is 4:47pm, so the Friday night Chanukah candles should burn till 5:17pm.

After Shabbat, in shul we light the Chanukiah before making Havdala in order to light as early as possible after nightfall, (although we have said HaMavdil bein Kodesh Lechol in the Amidah.) At home, the custom is to make Havdalah first and light the Chanukiah thereafter, which makes sense as Havdalah concludes Shabbat, whereas the candles on the Chanukiah represent the following day. (OC 681:1).

This year Shabbat Chanukah is Rosh Chodesh, giving us three Sifrei Torah, Hallel and the longest permutation of Birkat Hamazon (Al Hanisim, Retzei and Yaaleh Veyavo). We divide the Parasha of Mikketz into six aliyot and then read the Rosh Chodesh leining as shevi'i. The Maftir is the daily reading for Chanukah (6th Day). The Haftara is the Shabbat Chanukah Haftara (Zechariah 2:14-4:7) with many kehillot adding the first and last verses of the Rosh Chodesh Haftara and the first and last verses of the Machar Chodesh Haftara.

Mikketz almost always falls in Chanukah. It did not in 2000, 2020 and will not in 2023 and then 2040. In all these cases, the Shabbat of Chanukah is Vayeishev and there is only one day of Rosh Chodesh.
