Rashi or Rambam? – Leora and Harry Salter

A famous dispute between Rashi and Rambam over the order of the Torah comes to life with this week's Parasha. Rashi, who argues that there is no chronological order to the Torah, sees the Sin of the Golden Calf (which is in next week's Parasha) to come straight after Parashat Mishpatim and argues that actually the details and the making of the Mishkan happens after the Golden Calf. However, the Rambam believes that there is a chronological order to the Torah, and argues that first came the giving of the Torah, then the building of the Mishkan and then the sin of the Golden Calf.

Rashi argues that the Jewish people were given the Mishkan as a consequence of the sin of the Golden Calf. The Jewish people were unable to hold onto the revelation at Mount Sinai, so we needed a physical manifestation of G-d's presence on earth. Whereas the Rambam argues that the Mishkan is an extension of the experience at Mount Sinai. The giving of the Torah did not end in Parashat Yitro or even Mishpatim, rather it continued to this week's Parasha.

The building of the Mishkan takes up more than four hundred verses, whereas the creation of the world takes up little more than forty verses. No matter how one sees the Mishkan, we can learn from the detail how important it is and what it can teach us.

It says (Chapter 25, Verse 8): 'And they shall make Me a sanctuary and I will dwell in their midst.' We are given the specifications of the Mishkan, the blueprint of the building, but G-d does not intend to dwell in it. He says, 'I will dwell in their midst,' and not, 'I will dwell in it.' So where do we find holiness, in the Mishkan or in our midst?

Rav Yaakov Chayim Sofer explains that the main part of the Mishkan was not to have a home for the Divine Presence to dwell in, but that they should mend their ways and follow G-d's instructions and their hearts should be open to G-d, and thus, he will dwell in everyone's heart. Even though Hashem commanded the Jewish people to build a Mishkan, the most important thing is that they make themselves holy so that G-d can dwell among them, meaning within each one of them.

However you follow, whether it is Rashi or Rambam, in the reading of the chronology of the Torah, the Mishkan can teach the same lesson. We should not just think that we have a place for G-d and that we have ticked the box, rather we must do everything to follow His commandments to enhance our everyday life, following the ways of Hashem. According to Rashi, we need a physical representation to remind us of Hashem's presence and according to Rambam, we need a physical representation to continue the positive experiences we have.

A Mixed-up Month

The Talmud teaches that as we enter the month of Av, we should diminish our joy in anticipation of the solemnity of Tisha B'Av and the destruction of our Temples and exile. Conversely, as we come into Adar, we should increase in joy. This is the month of salvation. The victory over Haman also paved the way for the return to Israel from exile in Bavel and the building of the Second Temple under Ezra and Nechemia.

The Sfas Emes (R' Yehuda Arie Leib Alter 1847-1905) the 3rd Gerrer Rebbe draws a parallel between Adar and Ellul. Just as Ellul precedes the Rosh Hashana month of Tishrei, the High Holy Days and judgement; so, too, Adar precedes the "New Year" of Nissan. Nissan is identified as the new year for kings' reigns, dating contracts and is also considered the month of creation. Ellul precedes as a month of Teshuva MeYirah (repentance of awe, reverence and fear). The Sfas Emes writes that Adar precedes Nisan as a month of Teshuva MeAhava (repentance of love and companionship). Purim in Adar is the festival of giving Mishloach Manot and Matanot LeEvyonim, of sharing and supporting.

Zayin Adar (7th Adar), which falls next Tuesday, is the Yahrzeit (and birthday) of Moshe Rabbeinu. As we learn in Devarim 34:6, Moshe was buried by Hashem, himself. וַיִּקְבֹּר אֱתֹנוּ בְּגִלְ בְּאַרְצָא מוֹאָב מִחוּל בֵּית פְּעֹר וְלֹא יָדַע אִישׁ אֶת-קִבְרֹתוֹ עַד הַיּוֹם הַזֶּה: The day is traditionally observed as one of recognition of the Chevra Kaddisha, the blessed klei kodesh of our community who attend to the dead, wash, clothe and bury them. They fast on Zayin Adar and break the fast with a celebratory banquet in the evening.

The work of the Chevra Kaddisha is described as Chesed Shel Emmet של אמת חסד and is considered particularly Godly. It is the ultimate altruism; care for an individual who can express no gratitude. It shows a love of humanity and as we consider our mortality, it is also a labour of profound humility. How much we appreciate the volunteer men and women of our community who serve on the Chevra; who make themselves available as is necessary and who care for deceased members without distinguishing, rich or poor, observant or secular, saint or scoundrel. (I write generically: None of our members are scoundrels!) I do know that there is always call for more volunteers and invite anyone who would like to know more, or who might like to witness a Tahara (washing and preparation of a body for burial) with a view to potentially joining the Chevra to contact me.

Adar is the month that "doubles up" in a Leap Year (The 3rd, 6th, 8th, 11th, 14th, 17th, and 19th years of the 19-year cycle are leap years. 5780 is the 4th year of the current cycle. The next leap year will be 5782. In a leap year, Purim is in Adar Sheini (it is always a month before Pesach). However, there is a discussion to be had about which is the "real" Adar and which is the "added" one. (R' Laitner gave a fascinating shiur on this some months ago).

The leap year creates some confusion over marking anniversaries and Yahrzeits. Where a bereavement has happened in Adar Sheini in a leap year, we observe the Yahrzeit on the same day in Adar Rishon. However, when it happens in Adar of a regular year, most Ashkenazim observe it in Adar Rishon (some say Kaddish also in Adar Sheini). Most Sephardim observe the Nachala in Adar Sheini.

Birthdays in a common year are celebrated in the Adar Sheini of a Leap year. Birthdays in Adar Sheini are observed in Adar of a common year. A consequence of this is that if two babies Ari and Zev are born a week apart in a leap year on 25th Adar Rishon (Ari) and 2nd Adar Sheini (Zev) respectively, but their Bar Mitzvah 13 years on is a common year, then Zev's birthday will be on 2nd Adar and the older Ari's will be three weeks later on 25th Adar.

Wishing everyone with smachot this Shabbat every blessing; happiness and health in the month ahead.

Shabbat Shalom.

Professor Avi Weiss

Key Trends & Developments in Israeli Society & Economy

Tuesday 3rd March, 8pm

Professor Avi Weiss will provide the most up-to-date findings on key social policy issues in Israel, including education, welfare, labour markets, healthcare, and macroeconomics – and the demographic shifts that affect all of these areas. Find out how Israel's social and economic landscape has changed over time, how it compares with other developed countries, and how trends differ between Israel's diverse population groups.

The Taub Center for Social Policy Studies in Israel is one of the country's leading social policy think tanks. Based in Jerusalem, the Centre conducts and disseminates unbiased, independent research on the most pressing social and economic issues facing Israel. This is the Taub Center's most widely requested presentation and is considered a must-see for all those with an interest in the current state – and future – of Israeli society.
