The Importance of Unity – Leora and Harry Salter

The idea of unity is one which is important in our society. We're taught in Pirkei Avot that the world is built on three things: Torah, Avodah and Gimilut Chasadim. Furthermore, in Vayikra (Perek 19, Possuk 34) we're commanded 'you shall love a stranger like yourself'. The building of the Mishkan was a community project, everyone had to give something to help build it and this is a theme that Judaism underpins itself on. However, in Parashat Noach we are also shown the dangers of the misuse of unity.

It says in Perek 6, Possuk 11 that 'the earth had become corrupt before G-d; and the earth had become filled with robbery'. After this we then have the story of the flood and the rebirth of the world. You would have thought after the flood, humanity would have sorted themselves out and would try to live in a world of tranquillity, yet this is far from what happened.

Shevii starts off with the words: 'The whole earth was of one language and of unified words.' Rashi explains the first part of the Passuk to mean that they all spoke Loshon Hakodesh, the Hebrew language. This shows the unity of the world in the form of language. However, what the people did with this unity shows why it can sometimes be dangerous. The following commendatory by Rashi says that 'unified words' means that they all waged war on G-d. The Sforno interprets 'And let us make a name for ourselves' (Passuk 4) to mean idolatry, something the Zohar agrees with. The downfall of this plan to make an idol can be seen in Passuk 6 and 7 when Hashem decides to 'confuse their language' meaning they cannot carry on the building.

Rashi explores the punishments of both the Generations of the flood and the Generations of the Disunion. Hashem decides to disperse and scatter the people all over the world. Rashi explains that to scatter them means that they will get no place in the world to come. He expands his commentary and asks: what sin is more severe, that of the Generations of the flood or that of the Generations of the Disunion? The Generations of the flood did not have a lack of belief in the fundamental truth, rather a failure to control their lusts whereas the Generations of the Disunion rejected the fundamental truth and waged war against G-d. Yet the punishments seem unfair. The Generations of flood were washed away but the Generations of the Disunion were not obliterated from the world. Rashi's answer teaches us an important lesson.

He answers that the Generations of the flood were robbers, and they did not care for each other. The Generations of the disunion, on the other hand, did care for each other and would behave with love and friendship. Rashi concludes his commentary by saying 'You have learned that conflict is hateful and peace is great' and this is a great message from this week's Parasha. We must learn from the Generations of the disunion to pursue unity and friendship in the world rather than use it for bad purposes.

NOACH STATISTICS

Mitzvot: None of the 613 mitzvot
Verses: 153 (4th longest of the 54 Sidrot, the longest in Bereishit)
Words: 1861 (11th longest)
Letters: 6807 (13th longest)
Haftarah: 22 verses (39th longest of the 80 Haftarot)
Noach has some of the shortest verses of the Torah, hence the significant difference in its ratings.
Today's sixth aliyah, with 44 verses, is the second longest shishi of the Torah. The seventh aliyah, with 33 verses, is the longest shevii of the Torah.

The Community we join to Build

Last Shabbat with Parashat Bereishit we read of Creation. There should be six working days per week culminating in one Shabbat. It has been a relief to have had a week like that after the last frenetic Yom Tov period.

I enjoyed the energy of the Tishrei Chaggim, the full(er) services, the song, the children in the building, the Simchat Torah kiddush. How wonderfully so many members contributed at every level, leading and leining, guarding and welcoming, phoning around and delivering honey cakes.

It was a joy to host and be hosted in sukkahs. Hashem smiled on us, and the weather held!

Slowly, but assuredly, we are coming back.

“No schmooze, no booze, no Jews!” – The most common request – even making it into the Yom Kippur “Ask the Rabbi” session.

- From mid-October there will be Kiddush after services.
- We look forward to the Minyan returning to the Deal Halls.
- Most of the seating in the Main and the Minyan will be available, with a mask-on area designated for those preferring to maintain social distancing.
- Mask wearing will be optional in services but remain recommended while walking in public areas.

Specifics will be fleshed out and emailed over the next couple of weeks. Significantly, also, we know that these in-service changes are only a small part of the steps we must and will be taking to re-engage with our broad and diverse membership. We are looking forward to social, educational and networking events; to trips and outings.

Pilates, Friendship Club, Ilana Banana, Student Beit Midrash & many Youth events are already up and running.

While there is definitely an emphasis on opening up with greater interaction, we shall continue to support the more cautious and more vulnerable, for whom our responsibly managed services have provided a meaningful lifeline.

The Babel story is possibly one of the Torah’s most perplexing. Building a tower to assault the heavens (or protect ourselves from Hashem’s post-flood wrath) was clearly a futile mission. Why, though, does Hashem choose, of all available strategies, the confusing of communication and disrupting language?

Now, common enterprise, itself, is a challenge – and it is a challenge that requires people to relate to each other – to work at communication – it becomes a human challenge to nurture understanding. Hashem shifts the focus from the builder of buildings. He shifts human focus to the communicators and to dialogue.

The relics of history’s great builders create magnificent picture postcards and outstanding holidays. The pyramids of Egypt, the columns and arches of Greece and Rome were proclamations of grandeur, but they are the tombstones of magnificent civilisations that now belong to history. For Judaism, there was nothing more significant than Shema Yisrael – Listen O Israel & Veshinantam levanecha vedibarta bam – Teach them to your children and speak about them... those are the words we write on our mezzuzot – the unassuming banner with which we designate our buildings – a symbol of Hashem as protector and guardian.

Ours is a civilisation based on talking and listening, teaching and learning – based on relating, communicating and building understanding. Even our written law has an Oral Law – to make us talk and to listen.

Even building our Temple was so that Hashem would dwell among us – not in the building – within us and in our hearts.

Through the Babel story, Judaism teaches, what’s important. It is not to conquer the heavens but to civilise the earth. Civilisation is not about castles in clouds. It is about the way we relate, the values we communicate and the community that we join to build.

Looking forward to seeing you back and welcoming you in.

Shabbat Shalom

NOW SHOWING

Monday Film Afternoons are back!

25th October

HAND IN HAND

Life is a great adventure for best friends Rachel and Michael. Fortunately, they are too young to know that being of different faiths, are on opposite sides of a steep fence of intolerance. When Rachel moves away they become blood brothers, and decide to celebrate. It is just the beginning of their adventures.

8th November

NICKY'S FAMILY

At the outbreak of WWII, Sir Winton saved the lives of 669 Czechoslovakian children from lethal threat. Dubbed the British Schindler, this film tells the original story through re-enactments narrated by the rescued children and Sir Nicholas himself.

22nd November

THE BIRDCATCHER

This gripping war thriller uncovers a hidden slice of history that is equally shocking as it is inspiring. In an attempt to flee Nazi persecution, Esther, a Jewish 14 year old girl, finds herself alone, on an occupied farm forced to conceal her identity; leading to a series of choices and consequences.

6th December

THE RED SEA DIVING RESORT

The film stars Chris Evans as an Israeli Mossad agent who runs a covert operation that helps Ethiopian -Jewish refugees escape to safe haven in Israel.
