A Man Who Needs No Introduction

Unlike Noach, who is introduced by “And Noach found favour in the eyes of the Lord” and who is described as “a righteous man in his generation”, Avram is a man who receives no introduction.

Parashat Lech Lecha begins with Hashem’s command to Avram: “Get yourself out from your country, away from your birthplace and from your father’s house, to the land that I will show you; and I will make of you a great nation and I will bless you and make your name great, and you shall be a blessing...” [12,1]

A familiar Midrash fills in the gap; telling how young Avram destroyed all his father’s idols but one, and in its hand, he left a mallet. When his father accused him of the vandalism, Avram pointed at the idol and said, “There’s your culprit; see, the evidence is still in his hands!” Father was unimpressed and remarked that a stone statue was incapable of causing such damage. Avram exclaimed that it was obvious then, that idols were powerless, idolatry was folly, and there was only one true Hashem, whom everyone should follow. Why was Avram chosen? Because he had chosen Hashem.

In a similar vein, Rambam and Ramban have Avram working hard to promote monotheism before Hashem calls upon him.

The Maharal of Prague takes another view. The above may indeed be true, but Avram was not selected like Noach. When Noach was saved from destruction, it was a personal bonus for having been good. It is not just Avram who is being chosen here; rather Avram and all his descendants. Nor is it recognition for what he had done, but for what they were going on to do.

Says the Maharal, if Avram’s merits had been spelled out at this point, we may look at them and declare ourselves unworthy. “I am not as good as him, I can’t live up to him, I have no part in the Jewish people.” [Netzach Yisrael / Drasha L’Shabbat HaGadol]. Instead, Avram is chosen and goes on to develop. All we need assume is that he has a faith in Hashem, sufficient to open the dialogue.

“Said R’ Yonatan, ‘A potter will not test a cracked vase even once, lest it breaks. What does he test? Good jars, which will not break, even if they are struck many times. Similarly, Hashem does not try the wicked, only the righteous...” [בראשית רבה ל"ב]

The trials which Avraham, Yitzchak and Yaakov will endure; and, indeed, any divine test that comes our way, is one which we have the potential to pass. It takes resolve and conviction, but it is not beyond our grasp.

Hashem calls on Avram “Leave your country” - it’s a familiar environment, but trust in Me. “And your birthplace” - all your friends, the neighbourhood you know - leave them behind. “And your father’s house” - the hardest of all - because you have the potential to spread the message of monotheism; and your descendants will be a light to the nations.

It’s not always easy to fulfil one’s destiny, to achieve one’s goal. Therefore, Hashem assures him, “I will bless you and make your name great.” If you put your faith in Me, I will help you on your way.

Though the path sometimes seems uncertain, we have company on our journey.

Shabbat Shalom - שבת שלום

The Sad Loss of the Happiest Man

Yesterday saw the sad passing of a cherished Australian congregant, Eddie Jaku OAM at the respectable age of 101.

Eddie was an enthusiastic teacher of the lessons he had learned through his remarkable life. In his memoir, published last year, he described himself as “the happiest man on earth”, a bold statement for a man permanently scarred with Auschwitz tattoo number 172338.

Time spent with the charming and smiling Eddie left its own indelible impression.

“I have lived for a century, and I know what it is to stare evil in the face. I have seen the very worst of mankind... Through all of my years I have learned this: life can be beautiful if you make it beautiful... [My story] is a sad one in parts, with great darkness and great sorrow. But it is a happy story in the end, because happiness is something we can choose. It is up to you.”

Eddie was born in Leipzig in 1920 with the given name Abraham Solomon Jakobowitz . The large family were proud Germans. His maternal grandfather was an army chaplain who died serving the Kaiser in the First World War. His father Isadore, born in Poland was a skilled mechanic, who had worked for Remington typewriters. Isadore was interned as an enemy alien in Germany when the First World War began, but then released to work in a heavy munitions plant for the war effort.

Eddie’s early memories include his mother’s challot, his parents’ Shabbat hospitality and his father’s advice that “There is more pleasure in giving than taking; the important things in life – friends, family and kindness – are more precious than money. A man is worth more than his bank account.”

Eddie’s Bar Mitzvah in 1933 was held in an upstairs shul above a German home, which was protected by the householder’s son, a young member of the SS! That year, Eddie was kicked out of school, but his father enrolled him, with false papers and under a false name, Walter Schlieff, orphan, in a mechanical engineering college a 9-hour train ride away. For five years, “Walter” progressed, graduated and excelled; but missed his family.

The decision to pay a surprise visit to his parents for their 20th Wedding anniversary on 9th November 1938 was fateful. He arrived in an empty home and fell asleep. He was woken by a mob of Nazis who broke the door down and beat him. Kristallnacht. He was taken to Buchenwald, where, for the first time in his life, Eddie encountered savage cruelty, capricious slaughter and men losing hope.

“In front of my eyes, I lost my dignity, my freedom, and my faith in humanity... I lost everything I lived for. I was reduced from being a man to being nothing,”

In the face of cruelty, Eddie resolved that for him to survive, he would live by his wits, but retain moral integrity. “There is no medicine for your morals. If your morals are gone, you go.”

In Buchenwald and later in Auschwitz, Eddie’s engineering prowess was his ticket to life. “On three separate occasions, I was taken to the gas chambers but saved at the last minute when a guard saw my name, prisoner number and profession and shouted, ‘Take out 172338!’ Each time, I silently thanked my father for insisting I train as an engineer, making me what the Nazis called an ‘Economically Indispensable Jew’.”

Put to work at IG Farben, suppliers of Zyklon B, the poison used in the gas chambers, he discovered that one of the machine operators was his sister...

No more spoilers! I encourage you to read Eddie’s accessible memoir, “The Happiest Man on Earth: The Beautiful Life of an Auschwitz Survivor” or to hear his voice tell his story in the audiobook.

While some of the news coverage of his centenary and now his passing have included the touching anecdotes, only the book captures Eddie’s learned wisdom and the positive coping lessons, gleaned from harsh experience.

Eddie was a popular guide at the Sydney Jewish Museum, which carried a substantial Holocaust exhibit with photos and memorabilia of the survivors who had made it to Australia. Eddie’s guiding was not just historical. It was forward thinking, relationship affirming, instructional and full of hope. When Eddie spoke of the Shoah, the focus shifted from “How could they do...?” to “How can I be?”

May his memory be a blessing.

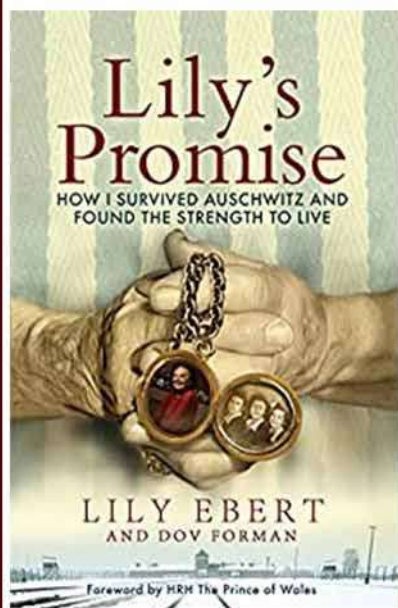

Keeping the memory of the Shoah, its victims and lessons alive is a mission. It is a great challenge for our generation. Please join me on Monday evening at 8pm with our impressive young member Dov Forman, who will be talking about his collaborative memoir “Lily’s Promise” with his great grandmother, Lily Ebert.

Returning to Kinloss

We are delighted to announce the first stages of returning to a new vibrancy at Kinloss and encourage all members to join us on this journey. This is an outline of our next steps.

Services Back in Place – No Booking Needed

We have already embarked on more engaging and full services with singing, aliyot at the Sefer Torah, regular call-ups and children leading Anim Zemiroth. We will shortly have congregant-led Divrei Torah in the Minyan. It is important that with these changes, everyone continues to feel comfortable.

The Main Synagogue (9.15am) – We will have a return to normal seating in the shul with a designated “distanced” section where social distancing will be maintained, and masks must be worn. In the Ladies Gallery, the designated section will be the seats immediately in front of the Jerusalem Window. Downstairs, the designated section will be the seats immediately behind the Bimah.

The Minyan (9.30am) – Will return upstairs to the Deal Halls. There will be an allocated area for social distancing and mask wearing on each side of the mechitza, closest to the windows.

Hashkama (7.45am) – Will remain in the Deal Halls

Youth Minyan (9.45am) – Will revert back to the Beit Midrash

Children’s Services: (10.45 am) 0 – 4 Service – Will go back to the Kinloss Suite Foyer. Rec – Yr2 will remain in the Nemetnejad Room. Yr3 – Yr6 will remain in the First Floor Classrooms. We will still be asking Adults to attend the 0 – 4 Service and we ask that these adults wear masks.

In the Communal Areas, we recommend that everyone respect the needs and safety of all attendees. Please do continue to wear a mask.

Food Glorious Food! – Our Kiddushim Return

Following the success of the Simchat Torah Kiddush, we are delighted that there will be a return to kiddushim. The joint Main Service and The Minyan Kiddush will take place in the Kinloss Suite. This a welcome opportunity to get back together, socialise and connect. Kiddushim will also follow the Hashkama, Youth and Children’s services.

What will the Kiddush look like?

This is the million-dollar question! We will not be returning to double-dipping and crisp-sharing! Children’s service kiddushim will be individually wrapped.

The Main Kiddush will have individual portions, drink, grape juice and a LeChayim. We look forward to the occasional enhanced Chollent and Kugel kiddush. Please do support these through participation and sponsorship. (See below for more information.)

If someone at home tests positive

Kinloss attendance protocols will conform with government guidelines on vaccination/age etc.

WE NEED YOU! - What can I do to help the community move forward?

For our return, it is essential that as many people as possible participate and assist in the following areas.

Welcoming – We are looking for volunteers to join our welcoming rota. Please click here to volunteer.

Kiddush Volunteers – To enable us to offer hot food, we need help in serving chollent and kugel. Please click here to volunteer.

Sponsorship – We are looking for sponsorship for Kiddushim. This will allow us to continue to have hot kiddushim more often. Please click here to arrange sponsorship.

As ever, we are looking for volunteers to help with Security. We are also keen for some volunteers to assist with Children’s Services.

We are excited and enthusiastic at our return to Kinloss. These are just our initial steps back in. As people become more comfortable, we are exploring more innovative programmes for Shabbat and activities through the week.

Please do be in touch with us if you have any concerns.

We really look forward to seeing you return with your family and friends to all our religious, social and educational programming.

With warm best wishes,

The Rabbinic Team & Executive

25th October HAND IN HAND

Life is a great adventure for best friends Rachel and Michael. Fortunately, they are too young to know that being of different faiths, are on opposite sides of a steep fence of intolerance. When Rachel moves away they become blood brothers, and decide to celebrate. It is just the beginning of their adventures.

8th November NICKY'S FAMILY

At the outbreak of WWII, Sir Winton saved the lives of 669 Czechoslovakian children from lethal threat. Dubbed the British Schindler, this film tells the original story through re-enactments narrated by the rescued children and Sir Nicholas himself.

22nd November THE BIRDCATCHER

This gripping war thriller uncovers a hidden slice of history that is equally shocking as it is inspiring. In an attempt to flee Nazi persecution, Esther, a Jewish 14 year old girl, finds herself alone, on an occupied farm forced to conceal her identity; leading to a series of choices and consequences.

6th December THE RED SEA DIVING RESORT

The film stars Chris Evans as an Israeli Mossad agent who runs a covert operation that helps Ethiopian -Jewish refugees escape to safe haven in Israel.

Doors open at 2pm, film starts at 2.15pm
